Network chance to build business contacts

VISITORS to this year's Business Yorkshire event will be able to take part in the region's biggest business-to-business networking session, say organisers.

The session takes place over complimentary drinks in the Network cafe on day one of the exhibition and conference. Visitors will also have the opportunity to try speed networking over both days.

Scott Hider, managing director of organiser Nationwide Media Group, said: "Business Yorkshire is all about relationships, whether it is confirming and strengthening existing relationships, or creating new ones.

"The event is designed to provide the local business and entrepreneurial community with a chance to promote itself, seek funding, identify opportunities, be better educated and inspired, and to develop relationships.

"Speed networking is a great concept and past experience suggests we will be oversubscribed, so visitors need to register early.

"The networking session in the Network café will be a great opportunity for visitors and exhibitors to relax together and both develop and strengthen relationships."

Business Yorkshire takes place at Doncaster Racecourse on November 25 and 26. The Yorkshire Post is media partner.
